Carl Steinfeldt Receives Hickok Award

On February 3, Carl Steinfeldt of Rochester, New York, was honored by being presented a beautiful plaque at the annual Hickok Award Dinner held in that city.

This annual award is made to the individual for being the "best athlete of the year" for Rochester, New York.

Steinfeldt is a tremendous competitor, especially in horseshoes, in which he has won many trophies in tournaments in all parts of the country. He has held the New York state crown 14 times, his latest being the 1968 New York title. In the 1968 World tournament held at Keene, New Hampshire, he finished in fifth place with an 82.8 ringer percentage for the tournament.

COVER PICTURE . . . This month we feature Kent Chelain, former sports editor of the Bradenton, Florida Herald. See complete story on page 4.

Kent Chellain, Godfather of Horseshoe "U" at Bradenton, Florida

By HAL PORTER

Back in February of 1965, around mid-night of a long and tiring Saturday, the phone on Kent Chellain's desk rang! It had been a tough fight but Sunday's sport section had been redacted and he thought the night was over! He had to answer, maybe the ball-park was on fire or something! Instead it was a guy from the Bradenton Trailer Park Horseshoe Club wanting to know if he would be interested in a regular Sunday Horseshoe Column!

Half an hour later, Mr. Chellain had become god-father of the "Horseshoes" column, of which some of you may have heard. The last week in February of that year the column was born; today it is a lusty, bawling babe nearly four years old and we hope, growing!

Many of you know of the enterprise, may have even read an occasional copy here and there. Under his watchful eye, this babe of the oldest game in the country, has steadily grown. It has averaged 52 appearances each year since then, if you balance the "Horseshoes" editor's vacations against the weeks when 6 out of 7 editions of The Herald carried Iron Tamer's news!

Through him we met sports TV editors of Tampa, who carried news each night on their sports shows, as well as box scores, etc. in the Bradenton Herald. He was first to see the value of the expression "Horseshoe University," believing as we do that a university is a place where folks teach and are taught!

On rare occasions has he ever shortened our copy. Rather than do this, he has often given it full space on the Monday following! He has urged the local Horseshoe U., and our state organization under the relentless gifted leadership of John Rademacher of Plant City, to stage as many tourneys as the barge could carry. It has been his contention that the way to increase interest in our game is to have more and more tournaments! He inspired last year's first annual DeSoto Exhibition held in the blocked-off middle of 12th Street, West, right in the middle of Downtown Bradenton!

"Horseshoe University" has already felt the loss of this inspired champion of the game we like; this year's Downtown Horseshoe Show will be dedicated to him as champion of Our Game! Again, it was held right in the middle of 12th Street, West, at 2 p.m. on Wednesday afternoon, March 19th! Iron Tamers from everywhere the "News Digest" is read, will be coming to the Winter Capital of Horseshoes for the DeSoto meet and the above mentioned event! John and Gene Rademacher were in the starring roles; it was hoped that Elmer Hohl of Wellesley, Ontario would accept Leo McGrath's bid to visit him during the event.

As Our Game grows in the nation, Kent Chellain will, and should be, remembered as one of the news pioneers who had the vision to help when it was most vitally needed! Soon, the third annual full-page of pre-horseshoe world series news will hit the news stands! There is a monthly Florida Horseshoe News, there have been annual Christmas and Easter columns, which an author's representative we know, says could have been delivered from any pulpit! All these things plus the ever practical and personal touches he has spontaneously supplied, rate him in our prejudiced opinion, the first news-media candidate for the Horseshoe Hall of Fame! Our loss is certainly Tampa's gain! Even in leaving, he passed the torch to his successors!

Whatever happens to Our Game, in this most wonderful of all nations, in its history the name, Kent Chellain, the towering rusty-haired sports editor, must appear in letters as glowing as the thoughts in the hearts of us who knew him as "Our Champion!" Gentlemen, we give you Kent Chellain!

Austin Wins Florida's Strawberry Open Tourney

The 1969 Strawberry Festival tournament was held at the Plant City Fairgrounds on March 6th, 7th and 8th. Changeable weather kept the ringer percentage down in several of the classes. A. L. "Abe" Austin of Oak Park, Illinois is the new champion. Les Long of Sterling, Illinois the defending champion finished in the second spot.

Playoffs for trophy positions were the general order in all classes. Class B was cut short due to rains which started in the late afternoon of the final day.

An interesting horseshoe personality . . .

Hal Hanania of New Jersey

Hal Hanania

HAL HANANIA — Hellal (Hal) Hanania, 448 Runyon Avenue, Middlesex, New Jersey, 08846, is a Sergeant on the Middlesex police force. He has been a policeman for 13 years and loves his work. Hal says that while police work is difficult, it is always interesting and always new. Before going into police work Hal was a carpenter and cabinet maker for several years.

Of Syrian descent, Hal was born in Brooklyn. He has a wife and four daughters, was a decorated infantry squad leader in World War II, and has played several sports including 19 professional boxing matches. It was only in 1963 that Hal turned to horseshoe pitching. He is averaging above 30% ringers now, but his contribution has been in the promotion of the game up to now. He has climbed to the Presidency of the new Jersey Horseshoe Pitchers' Association and built the Middlesex club to the point where they scored a near miss in bidding for the 1970 World Tournament.

Gonzales Cruises Thru San Jose, Calif. Open

Jesse Gonzales of the Los Gatos Horseshoe Club, the No. California Champ, started in where he left off in 1968 by cruising through 7 opponents to average 75% ringers in Group I in the opening tourney of the No. Calif. Assn. schedule at Ryland Park, San Jose. He pitched games of 83.9 and 80.8 enroute to the championship. Bill Weathers of Modesto, veteran ringerman of No. Calif. wound up second with a fine 6 won, 1 lost record, and Verdian Zelmar of Los Gatos placed third with a 65.3 average. Group II was fiercely contested and when the smoke cleared, Chuck Sampson of the San Jose club was on top, winning 6 of 7 games. There was a 3 way tie in the Group III 6-man conflict and Bill Henry edged Vince Mauricio of San Jose, then turned on the after burner to batter Lou Pitney also of Seaside for the trophy.

Horseshoe pitching is making a quick start in No. Calif. this year and with the new clubs in Eureka and Livermore, we expect to be way above our last year's membership totals.

"Resistance To Some Change Is Progress"

G. R. KAHLE — Oklahoma

On picking up my February issue of News Digest, I was amused to find another article on the general subject of changing the scoring system for horseshoe pitching. (Page 22) The robin and changing of scoring systems are both harbingers of spring. Horseshoe pitchers are not the only people who try to change the scoring system of their favorite games. For after all, all scoring systems are arbitrary. The big danger is the equation of change with progress.

Let's see if Mr. Davis' and Berman's "advantages" for their proposal are really progress.

1. — They say that elimination of single points would simplify our scoring system. Not really, the addition of one to three is already so simple. I've yet to find an elementary student without the capacity. Therefore, invalid!

2. — They say a base of 21 ringers per game (versus 17 ringers for a 50 point game) is shorter because you don't have to measure single points. It is my experience that the measurement of just-or near-ingers is much more time consuming, so they've lengthened the game by requiring more exacting measurements. Therefore, invalid!

3. — Their comparison of a lop-sided score of 16 to 3 versus a 48 to 9 score as "not being so hopeless" is a half-truth. For a direct comparison we would have to use a game of the same ringer base of 21 ringers; then the second game (48 to 9) would be played to 63 points (instead of 50) and it is not so hopeless — the ratio is the same. Therefore, invalid!

4. — Practically eliminates luck by winning a game by one point with a "poorly thrown shoe". You make your own "luck" in horseshoe pitching. If someone beats me by a single point with a "poorly thrown shoe" it's because mine was more "poorly thrown." Therefore, invalid!

From my position at the stake I can see no advantages in eliminating single points — it's just another way to score a fun game. Let's now turn to disadvantages, which were overlooked.

1. — Every sport that is interesting and challenging has at the players disposal more than one way to score — football, basketball, bowling, baseball, you name it! Variety is the spice of life! Elimination of single points would reduce my, and your, favorite sport to a free-throw contest, extra-point kicking contest, or a batting practice. Our option to methods of scoring is dangerously low now. Let's not reduce them further.

2. — For a new candidate to horseshoe pitching, learning to pitch an open shoe and then to do so around a stake at 40 feet is very difficult. Immediate success is near impossible and something to hold the beginner's interest is necessary if we are to keep him. It is the close shoe, the single point, that does it. The ability to just-come-close holds him long enough in our ranks until he learns to throw ringers. If we do away with the single point the first step to success is too big — our ranks will dwindle. Bowling is popular because luck is a factor and it's easy to score big early. I threw three strikes the first game I played. I dare say my first three ringers took a day or more. The ability to come close and score held me long enough to learn to pitch ringers.

So with these thoughts I'm going to go outside with the robins and pitch a few ringers — and close shoes! !

New York State Tournament Date Changed

Jerry Schneider of Southern California Captures Valley of the Sun Title

The Valley of the Sun Open was held in Mesa, Arizona on February 23 and 24. It was to have been a 12-man round robin in all four classes; but the Valley of the Sun turned to the Valley of the Rain on Saturday afternoon which forced the A and B classes to go to two 6-man round robins on Sunday afternoon.

A playoff of the top man in each group was then played to decide the winner and runnerup, and the second spot finishers in each group played for third and fourth place. (This was the first time in eleven years that rain has interfered with the tournament).

Players from twelve states and Canada participated in the tournament. Elmer Beller from California, whose name is synonymous with Horseshoes was on hand to take care of the official scoring. Elmer hasn't missed a tournament here since its beginning. He was ably assisted by Larry Geer also of California and John Mauthe of Phoenix. An enthusiastic crowd of about 300 enjoyed the event.

Kuchcinski Top Man In North Dakota Winter Show Open

Most successful North Dakota Winter Show horseshoe tournament — including an All-Star Classic won by Danny Kuchcinski — was held at Valley City, N.D., Saturday, March 8.

Kuchcinski averaged 79 per cent ringers in four games to capture the five-man All-Star title which featured the top three finishing pitchers in the 1968 World Tournament.

Elmer Hohl of Wellesley, Ontario, Canada, the 1968 World Champ, started slow but wound up second with a 3-2 record. Hohl said he took a liking to the indoor arena, the lighting and the surroundings and would like to see the World Tournament held indoors sometime.

Hohl, Jim Knisley of Bremen, Ohio, and Stan Manker of Martinsville, Ohio, tossed ringers for an hour during a practice session upon arrival in Fargo March 7. Hohl averaged 76.4 ringers and was followed by Frank Stinson of Minneapolis 3-2-74.7; Stan Manker 3-2-70.6; Knisley 2-3-73.8. Kuchcinski, the 1967 World Champ from Erie, Pa., tangled with Knisley in the tourney's longest game with Danny winning in 130 shoes. Hohl, hitting his stride, dealt Kuchcinski his only tourney loss.

Lawrence Holm, North Dakota Winter Show president, presented the cash awards to the five All-Star pitchers. Kuchcinski took $225 for taking first place. Holm also awarded trophies for winners in the open divisions.

It was the third year in which horseshoe has been a part of the Winter Show. Officers of the Red River Valley League, who operate the tournament, were happy with the turnout of spectators with several hundred watching the action.

Will Gullickson of Moorhead, Minn., coordinator of the tournament, originated the All-Star Classic idea and planned it with Irv Koslofsky, Winter Show manager.

Gullickson said it has worked out well to change the format of the tourney each year with some new plans already being considered for next year.

A total of 32 pitchers from Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota competed in the open division. Winner of the Class A title was Gene Lykken of Kindred, former state champ, who posted a 7-0 record.

It was the second title for Kuchcinski in Valley City since he won the Class A open division title a year ago.

The all-star classic was pitched on the Dixon portable courts which consist of a rubber pad placed on a wooden box with the stake set into the bottom.

In Memoriam

Word has been received from Earle Wilmore, secretary of the Indiana State Association, of the passing of Orville "Red" Haven, sports editor of the Anderson, Indiana Herald. He held that position with the Herald for 24 years. He was seized with a heart attack and succumbed soon after. He was 64 years of age.

His cooperation with the Anderson club and the Indiana state association in publicizing the sport in the columns of the Herald, helped greatly in the club's tournament endeavors, during the past years. He also held membership in the NHPA and was a subscriber of the News Digest. He will be remembered as one of the three men featured on the cover of the November issue in 1966.

His efforts in behalf of the horseshoe pitching sport are greatly appreciated by the Indiana group and by all those with whom he had daily contact.

To his bereaved family, the sincere sympathy of the Indiana state association and that of the National Horseshoe Pitchers' Association, is extended in their dark hour of bereavement.

Clyde Martz — Washington, Pa. March Open Champion

The Washington March Open Tournament was won by Clyde Martz of Pittsburgh in a tightly fought play-off battle among Jimmy Solomon of Uniontown, Pa.; Dale Carson of Baltimore, Md.; and Sam Sutton of Washington, Pa. After the normal 4 man play-off of Class A-1 and Class A-2, Dale, Clyde, and Sam were tied with one loss apiece requiring another play-off. In this final pitch-off, no one shot under the 80% mark, and Clyde narrowly emerged victorious.

Some of the miscellaneous highlights of the tournament were Sam Sutton's tremendous "come back" — especially in the play-off where he narrowly missed winning the tournament; Dale Carson's excellent clutch pitching which forced the final play-off (How many times have we seen Dale do this?); Jimmy Solomon's opening 90% game without having thrown a shoe for a month. (Jimmy later fell ill, but gamely finished the tournament.); Gene Durham of Baltimore coming out of retirement and throwing a solid 71.5% ringers; Howard Shriver, one of the most improved Class A pitchers in the United States, missing a crucial ringer to allow Martz to enter the play-off; Pete Sowa in Class B-1 starting the tournament with an 87.5% game; Clyde Sprowls going undefeated; John Ruskin in Class B-2 establishing a personal high of 74.4% ringers, but losing a close game to Vine Sedlacek who also went undefeated.

DIMONDALE, MICHIGAN — The first invitational horseshoe tournament was held at Ray's Recreation indoor courts, Saturday, March 1. The event, sanctioned by the Wolverine State Horseshoe Pitcher's association, witnessed some of the most intensive competition seen in some time.

The 50 shoe count all type of play was employed by players from around the state, invited by James Compton, W.S.H.P.A.

Bill Stephan, Kalamazoo, copped top honors in the morning round of play, winning 4 consecutive games. James Compton placed 2nd, with only one loss, that, to Stephan. The Kalamazoo tosser entered the meet with a 16 percent ringer average and at the finish of the competition, recorded a 33.5% average, the best of his career. He had high games of 40 and 38 percent.

The afternoon 6 man group finished in a 4 way tie for first place. Each recorded 3 wins and 2 losses. James Ostrander, Lansing, Pat Smith, Dimondale, Neal Dolbee, Charlotte, and Gerald Cowell, Adrian, were tied for first place.

Several surprises developed when Ostrander spotted Smith a 27 point handicap and despite pitching a fine 80% ringer percentage failed to overtake him and lost by a 138 to 130 point margin. Ostrander had other high percentages of 84 against Dolbee and 78 against Cowell.

Smith had high game of 62% against Ostrander. Smith was upset by Dolbee in the second round, and in turn won a narrow victory over Fuller, Battle Creek, by a 93 to 90 score.

From Here and There

While starting a fire to heat water during a well-drilling operation, Ernie "Four-High" Danielson of Burlington, Iowa, suffered second and third degree burns to his head and shoulders.

He was hospitalized after receiving first-aid at the scene of the accident. Ernie was just recovering from a sprained ankle suffered in December and was just able to be up and about when misfortune befell him again. A card of cheer would help him during his convalescence. His address is Ernest Danielson, 221 South 10th Street, Burlington, Iowa 52601.

F. Ellis Cobb, Editor
Horseshoe Pitcher's News Digest
Aurora, Illinois

Dear Sir:

After reading your article "Food for Thought" in the Feb. Digest, I would like to make a suggestion for a change in horseshoe pitching.

Play each game 50 shoes only and count nothing but ringers, counting them one point each, but not played on cancellation basis. Each player would score all ringers he threw. After 50 shoes each player would have his score and ringer percentage. Tournaments could be played on schedule, as this would eliminate the long endurance contests and would also do away with the necessity of qualifying for a tournament.

This would also eliminate most playoffs in case of ties, as there wouldn't be many. However, if the score was tied at the end of a 50 shoe game, the person getting the first point breaking the tie would be winner. The winner of the tournament would be figured on the basis of total points at 50 shoes only and in case of a tie it could be settled by a 50 shoe game.

This would permit a tournament to be played much faster and also allow more players to participate. I believe this would also increase spectator interest.

Yours sincerely,
Bill Vandegriff
