BARNYARD GOLF TO BE REVIVED BY U. OF PENN.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 2.—Horseshoe pitching, once a popular sport at the University of Pennsylvania, is to be revived. Nearly fifty students have signified their intention of competing for a varsity team. Practice grounds have been laid out in the dormitory quadrangle.

The Pennsylvanian, the student daily, says editorially: "Back in the days of Ben Franklin, Pennsylvania students found great amusement and keen rivalry in a game of horseshoes. It is up to the present generation to revive these old traditions."

HORSESHOE PITCHING IN NEW YORK CITY

The first county championship horseshoe pitching tournament in the history of New York State was held at Bayside, a community of 8,000 people and a part of greater New York, Sunday October 23, to determine the amateur champion of Queens County, a borough of the metropolitan district having about half a million of people. Norman Holmes, formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, a resident of Murray Hill, a suburb of Flushing, a Long Island community of about 30,000, took first place among the twelve contestants. Second place went to Herbert Marsh of Bayside, a railway employee and former westerner. Third place was captured by James Sykes of Bayside, a boy of only twelve, winner two months previously of the boy amateur championship of Bayside.

Six of the competitors were men and four of the six natives of states to the westward, while one was a native of Scotland and there had learned to pitch horseshoes. Six of the pitchers were boys, all of Bayside, one 11, one 12, one 13 and three 14 years of age.

In addition to the county title, Norman Holmes received the pair of tournament shoes sent as a prize by the National Standard Horseshoe Company, of Akron, Ohio, and second-place man was awarded a year's free subscription given by the Flushing Evening Journal.

The contest lasted four and a half hours, was witnessed by about 100 persons, and was preceded by sixty inches of news matter printed in the Flushing Journal and two other newspapers of the district.

Archie Rice made the arrangements and acted as referee.

Henry Daly, Kansas State Champion Passed Away March 5th

Mr. Henry Daly of Kansas City, Kansas, who held the State Title for 190-21, passed away the evening of March 5th. He was one of the best known pitchers in the country. He has held his own against such pitchers as Jackson, Crick and a host of others. His death is a blow to Kansas pitchers, he being one of the best boosters in the state as well as one of the pushers in the Kansas State Association.

The staff of this paper as well as all who knew Mr. Daly, extend their sincere sympathy to his family and friends.

TOURNAMENT HELD AT DIX- SON, ILL., SEPT., 1921

For the second time Joe Heskett won the Illinois State title, pitching in a team with E. A. Torbert. These two cleaned up everything in Illinois at the State meet held at Dixon. There were 10,000 people on the grounds. The horseshoe courts were crowded beyond all possibility of all seeing the contest who were late to arrive. The championship was won at Springfield in 1920 by these same pitchers. In five games Heskett threw 54 ringers and Torbert threw 31. The highest thrown in one game was made by Heskett who had 14 in a single game.

The tournament was held in the stadium seating 10,000 people, which provided a good place to watch the contest.

The interest in horseshoes in Illinois has been largely centered in picnics, there being no regular organized State Association, but the future for 1922 looks like a real State organization being formed by the leading clubs of the State.

The Portage and Adline Clubs of Chicago taking the leading part. It is planned to establish headquarters in Chicago.

WHEN ZEKE PERKINS LEARNED THE GAME

Out at the club they play barnyard golf,
 You can hear the ringing a long way off.
 Old Zeke Perkins heard the ringing one
 day,

And thought he'd stroll right over that way.

He saw Fred and Charley, Bill and Tom,
 Ole Abe and George they all threw them
 on.

Mack, John and Jake, even Frank and Deck,

All threw ringers on the stake, By Heck.
 He saw ringers here, ringers there,

The stakes filled up then they piled in the air.

Gosh dong ding it fine work, said Zeke,
 Try that out myself next week.

That night as Zeke crawled into bed,
 He had a whole lot of ringers ringing in his head.

Soon a ringer struck the dresser, another
 hit the chair,

Then a whole flock of ringers went flying
 through the air.

Here's where I duck out of here he said,
 Then a great big ringer rang around his neck.

He pulled on his shirt and slipped on his shoes,

Couldn't get in his pants they were filled with horseshoes.

He started right to pitching the game,
 Miranda heard the racket and thought he'd gone insane.

Zeke yelled lookout as she opened the door,
 I've thrown thirteen ringers and here comes some more.

She put him back in bed, then said with a grin,

You've thrown a mighty good game for the shape you are in.

Billy Crick of Oakland, Calif.

Billy Crick, of Oakland California, runner up in the State Tournament held at Long Beach, in December, 1921. W. R. Bradfield of Long Beach copped the State Title winning 15 straight games. Crick won 14 and lost one game by one point. Gilman Hoyt of Long Beach, finished third winning 12 and losing 3. H. L. Smith of Pasadena was fourth, winning 11, losing 4. This was the first time a State Tournament for a State Title was ever held in California.

Billy Crick finished third in the National Tournament at Akron, Ohio, August 1920.

Gilman Hoyt is a lad of eighteen and the son of W. A. Hoyt, President of the California State Association.

For many years the pitchers in the Golden State used a shoe weighing more than three pounds. Since the State Association has affiliated with the National Association the standard shoe has come into favor.

Long Beach has the largest horseshoe club in the United States.

HEALTH TALKS

by WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

NOTED PHYSICIAN AND AUTHOR

Most of those who pay to see baseball games would be doing themselves more good mentally and physically if they got out and played barnyard golf instead. The tired business man as well as his grandmother-venerating office boy, and his clerks and office force need not only fresh air and sunshine, but a little actual physical exercise to balance over against the evils of the sedentary life. They do not get this by sitting in the grandstand or the bleachers, and the vicarious excitement they experience as spectators of football and baseball games rather adds to their tiredness and certainly is no advantageous change from the nerve or brain lag of business.

There may be some good in ordinary golf, for old codgers. It is a sad fate for chap whose arteries are soft.

But barnyard golf is a different proposition. It involves some little perspiration and some little exercise aside from walking to and from over the course. It calls for skill and a good eye. It affords all the competition of one's fellows. It may be played where there is 50 feet of earth or sod or ground available. It costs practically nothing for the impedimenta of the game—a set of horseshoes selected from the blacksmiths junk pile and a pair of stakes or lengths of iron pipe. Pitching horseshoes is great fun, and you don't have to walk or ride out in the country to play the game—you can play it in your own backyard or in the driveway. Picking up the shoes is a darn sight better exercise for the average over-nourished man or woman than is pounding a dinky little rubber ball around a lot.

Young America is no niker in athletic competition with the foreign youth, but professional baseball does nothing at all for young America, and it sad to think how many champions are destined to remain unknown and unrecognized because the abnormal attraction of mere sport like baseball keeps the youngster content with passive participation and prevents him taking an active interest in any game at all.
