EDITORIAL

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

from Jake and the Missus.

Not having recuperated as fast as expected I am still in no condition to sit down and figure out the percentages of all the pitchers throughout the country as I have during the past two years. However, if any of you secretaries have any records of your own, I will be glad to publish them in January. Several clubs have already done this. Here's a reminder for the next couple of months—The Horseshoe Pitcher will be mighty thin unless you fellows start sending in articles of your own.

SECRETARY'S MESSAGE

By ELMER O. BELLER

Louis Dean is chairman of a committee appointed by President Arch Stokes, to rewrite the National constitution. Any one having suggested changes or added material, they consider worthy of consideration, should mail same directly to Louis Dean, 379 McKinley Ave., Pomona, California. This should be done at the earliest possible date. The script is to be written and presented at National Convention in Murray, Utah, next July, for approval of that body. The cooperation of all sections of the nation is solicited, in making their opinions known.

Billy Crick and myself drove to Phoenix, Arizona, and witnessed the Arizona State Championship, November 12-13. It was a 12 man Round Robin affair, won easily by Stanley DeLeary, a very fine pitcher. It is equal in all respect to the Murray, Utah court. It was set up with Phoenix has a splendid set of courts, consisting of 16 sets of stakes. the idea of a World Tournament. They still have that objective in mind. They have a delightful climate, and a fine group of officials; headed by Frank Dykes, President; and Robert Henry Secretary. After their tournament was completed, at the suggestion of President Dykes, Stan DeLeary and Bill Crick pitched a two out of three exhibition, purely for fun and entertainment, with the following results.

DeLeary .....	18	35	66	53.0
Crick .....	50	47	66	71.2

DeLeary .....	50	56	78	71.8
Crick .....	37	52	78	66.7
DeLeary .....	49	65	98	66.3
Crick .....	50	65	98	66.3

World Championship Tournament will be held at Murray, Utah, July 18 to 25, 1956.

Arch Stokes was operated on in Salt Lake City about Nov. 8. Had to have a portion of his stomach and intestines removed. So it was quite a serious operation. I had a very short letter from him today, in his own hand-writing, saying he was on his way to recovery.

CALIFORNIA

CALIFORNIA REGIONAL

By DON TITCOMB

The entire program of the Regional directors is to coordinate the National Horseshoe pitchers into a close workable group by having one purpose behind every club. We must admit that the N.H.P.A. is in existence only because of the local clubs all over the country that have given someone a start. Our first efforts are primarily to unify our methods of operation.

1. Increase membership. Each man get a new member. Every club see to it that the local school or schools be given exhibitions and help in running tournaments, also factories and businesses.

2. Every club have a publicity man that sees each and every event is given to radio and newspaper, in legible and understandable form.

3. Correspondence between clubs, exchange of ideas which will lead to stimulation of interests.

This is the office that I have created and the sole reason for said creation. If we want the game to continue, then we must offer it to the younger generation. It can't be done by itself. Each man must do his part or there will be no improvement at all.

Please have anyone write to me that needs or wants ideas for promotion. I think I can help them, at least an exchange of ideas is a swell start.

INDIANA STATE HORSESHOE LEAGUE

By R. G. PENCE

The Indiana State Horseshoe League with eighteen teams divided into two Divisions started a round robin schedule of matches in May and finished in October with Fortville winning the Singles championship and Berne the title in the Doubles Division.

The League was sponsored by the Indiana Division of the N.H.P.A. and all players held National cards, which is one reason the Indiana Association reached the imposing total of 200 members during the 1955 season.

Six teams competed in the All-Star Singles Division and the winning Fortville team was composed of the following players: Gene Brumfield, Lee Cross, Jim Kemple, Graydon McFatridge, Harold McFatridge, and Lemuel Price.

Twelve Doubles Division teams were subdivided geographically into two sections Berne winning the North and Indianapolis the South, with Berne emerging victors in the play-off. Members of the Berne team were: Charles Abbott, Clair Christener, Harley Campbell, Jim Haffner, Jim Johnson, Art Landis Clifford Landis Bob Neaderhouser, Noah Schwartz, Bill Shepherd, Earl Van Natter and Harold Walker.

NEW ENGLAND REGIONAL

By CHARLEY GERRISH

43 x 31 and 2-foot platform—It seems to me that at a few places that size horseshoe box pit has been literally put into tournament usage. One notable place being at the famed tourney courts in Medford, Mass., if my shaky memory can be trusted, probably over twenty years ago. The Rule book still recites these improper dimensions as being "Up to Hoyle." (One sometimes wonders if that 43 wasn't a misprint of 53.)

Isn't it time we wake up and remove this contradictory and quite impossible rule? Here's how we see it conty and impy: The 31 inches wide may be all right for width of dirt, but with 2 feet wide platforms this would make the box over six and one-half feet wide. (Step platforms 18 inches wide are sufficient.) Rules of late years mention 60 x 36 dirt area as being all right. This pit width would make the box 7 feet wide with the 2-ft platforms, whereas the box size has been specified as 6 x 6 feet since we can remember. But the really impious part of the smaller pit size is the 43 inch specification, and here's why. It is very necessary that 3 feet of dirt be in front of the stake as stated in Rule 4, so a landing shoe has that much distance in which to clear the "3-foot foul line." One inch more through the stake makes 37 inches, so that leaves only 6 inches of dirt back of the stake to complete the 43 inches. Of course six inches of dirt from the peg is not enough. If you take 15 inches back of the stake, that leaves but 27 (of the 43) in front of it to the foul line. This latter 27 inches of dirt is of course contrary to the required three feet to the foul line and step forward front of the stake. There are perhaps other inconsistencies in the rules, but the above discussed one should have immediate attention and remedy applied. Another rule of the most recent official 1954 edition is one that's omitted. Rule 2 should say (but doesn't) that the pitching distance for boys under 16 is 30 feet. Children under age 10 or so could also be recognized for 20 feet. For boys over age 16, forty feet should be required as has been past custom. Probably some confusion could be eliminated by rating boys under 16 as Juniors, and those over as Seniors.

This Regional Director is quite ready to select an Assistant Director for one state. For other states of New England he would be happy to have any suggestions of names for Assistant Directors.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

By CHARLEY GERRISH

Kittery and Portsmouth make one settlement that straddles the Piscataqua River which separates the southern ends of Maine and New Hampshire. This month the writer wants to stand on the N. H. side of this settlement and recite, as my narration concerns a young coming New Hampshire pitcher who well represents a Junior type development that all the N.H.P.A. were boosting last spring as the main horseshoe movement for 1955. How well other states did in this effort will perhaps be reported by C. A. Benedict, the Ohioan who acted as a kind of national director for us.

Donald Gerrish Craig is the 13-year old gentleman who seemed to typify the Junior idea for N. H. this year. Donnie topped every tournament he entered, and he entered at every opportunity as he brought home seven trophies which give a glittering decoration atop his piano-teaching mother's upright. Not a boy won a single game against him. In fact he says the only one who ever beat him at all, all year, was his grandpa Gerrish, who is perhaps not so modest a lad as is his skillful grandson.

Don's first 1955 exploit was winning the Open N. H. State meet for Boys on May 21 at Dover. It was difficult for certain officers of the State Association to be convinced that he won this event, but they finally came to see it on the Fourth of July. He retained his resident state Junior title, as no tournament was held for that championship this year.) His next tourney attainment was the Jubilee Open on July 4 at Portsmouth, where 8 boys from different states competed. He defeated a Massachusetts star twice, the extra game being played off to satisfy the May 21 issue. Two boys got zero scores. August 13 was the third trophy date at Northwood Fair in N. H., for open Fair championship. Five boys took part this time. Number 4 was a fine trophy prize at the open Cheshire Fair arena, near Keene, N. H., on August 26. The next day he took over at the open Canaan Fair, near Lebanon, N. H. He helped his granddad do stunt and trick pitching at the grandstands of the last two Fairs. The 6th public opposition was the open championship of Hopkinton Fair, at Contoocook (accent the "too" syllable), N. H., where all four or more rivals got zero scores, as not a boy got a point against him that day. The last championship was that of the open Deerfield Fair in N. H. on October 1, when Don again won every game against several boys.

He was accompanied at all these Junior events by his grandfather who matched him by winning all the Senior contentions. While Donald won all games in seven tournament, his grandpa had a very successful year also, as he seems to have lost only two games in eight championships. They included some heavy competition, such as three games each with the 1955 champions of Mass. and New England. Charley lost one game to Jim Guyett of Dover, the N. H. 1955 champ, at the Jubilee meet in two out of three games, and one to Pete Heroux of Providence in a non-trophy prize event at the Dover, N. H. Centennial on August 20.
